

WALLACE STATE COMMUNITY COLLEGE SELMA
ALLIED HEALTH PROGRAMS
STUDENT ACHIEVEMENTS

Wallace Community College Selma offers a thriving, for credit, Patient Care Technician (PCT), Licensed Practical Nursing (LPN), and Associate Degree Nursing (ADN) Programs. Each of these programs is an integral part of the Health Sciences career ladder concept. The programs have a thriving student enrollment with good program outcomes. Student certification rates consistently range from 85%-100% for graduates seeking employment. About 25% of the PCT Program graduates matriculate to the Practical Nursing Program or the Associate Degree Nursing Program. Each of these programs are a vital component of our career ladder. Eighty to ninety percent of practical nursing graduates express an interest in returning to WCCS to enroll in the Associate Degree Mobility Nursing Program. Passage rates on certification exams: 94 % - RN & LPN - 84.6%, PCT - 88.61% (scores based on averages for the past three-year exam performance)